

Senior Queensland plastic surgeon moves to Greenslopes

A highly respected plastic, reconstructive and cosmetic surgeon has relocated his consulting rooms to the newly opened suites at Greenslopes Private Hospital.

Dr Paul Belt has been consulting in Fortitude Valley for 14 years, but decided to make the move at the start of 2019.

“I have been operating at Greenslopes Private Hospital since 2005 and have always liked the idea of being co-located for patient convenience,” Dr Belt said.

“This relocation will benefit patients who will have access to a 24 hour on-site pharmacy, radiology and other medical services.”

Dr Belt performs approximately 100 procedures per month and offers aesthetic and cosmetic plastic surgery, skin malignancy surgery and reconstructive plastic surgery.

His new specialist rooms are located on the hospital campus in the Nicholson Street Specialist Centre.

The fit-out includes high quality digital photography services, 3-D modelling for breast, body and facial procedures, as well as a minor procedure facility.

“The advantages of having been in practice for 14 years are that I’ve designed my rooms exactly how I want them, because I know exactly what my practice, my patients and I need,” Dr Belt said.

Dr Belt is also the College Supervisor of training for plastic surgery at Greenslopes Private Hospital and the re-location will provide additional convenience for supervision and teaching of training registrars. ■
