From Kourtney Kardashian to Anna Faris, it seems that everyone is trying breast augmentations. No matter your reason for considering the treatment, it's important to make sure you're going to a qualified expert who can take the vision you have in your mind and make it a reality.

If you've been thinking about breast augmentation – “Is it right for me? What's the procedure like? Where do I start?” – then prepare to breathe a deep sigh of relief, because we're helping you take your next step with confidence. Here's our guide to some of the most trusted breast augmentation specialists in Brisbane.

DR DAVID SHARP PLASTIC SURGERY |
GREENSLOPES AND IPSWICH

Dr David Sharp understands that no two clients (or breasts) are the same, and because of this, he is dedicated to ensuring a personalised experience for every patient. Specialising in breast augmentation surgery and with a passion for beautifully natural-looking results, Dr Sharp is highly sought after for his expertise and down-to-earth approach. Dr Sharp is skilled in modern breast enhancement techniques, including the dual plane method of breast augmentation (which helps achieve a naturally curvaceous shape) as well as a short incision technique that results in minimal scarring. He encourages women to consider three key aspects when planning a breast augmentation: choosing a skilled, FRACS credentialed plastic surgeon who makes them feel comfortable and respected; selecting high-quality implants that come with a lifetime warranty; and lastly, working with their patient support team to practice excellent aftercare, for ideal long-term results. Dr Sharp says most women considering breast augmentation surgery in his clinics want to correct a deficit in breast volume due to genetics, asymmetry, breastfeeding or weight loss. “It’s a privilege to be part of a process that’s not just about physical change, but also contributes to making people feel more comfortable in their own skin,” Dr Sharp says.

To help those who are considering the procedure make an informed decision, Dr Sharp has published a free guide to breast augmentation surgery, which is available online. Working alongside a stellar team of clinical and administrative professionals, Dr Sharp has created an environment that allows his clients to achieve their body goals with confidence.
